

The Alma Record.

Published Thursday Afternoon By C. F. BROWN, Editor and Proprietor SUBSCRIPTION, $1.00 PER YEAR The Record is entered at the post office at Alma, Michigan, for transmission through the mail as second class matter.

SUBSCRIPTION ACCOUNTS

On account of the increase cost of all material and labor we are compelled to insist on subscriptions to the Record being paid up. All daily papers and many weeklies are raising the price. Not wishing to do this we must clean up our list. We have many who owe one and more years, whom we have sent statements who pay no attention and these we ask to call and settle by June 1st.

We have discontinued some and placed in a collector's hands, this we dislike to do, but repeated statements totally ignored compels us to take some other method.

TREE TRIMMING

droop. This general rule of course should not be applied to trees that are used to screen out unsightly objects or those maintained as specimen trees in lawns.

"It is quite essential in these days of numerous frauds to inquire very carefully regarding the qualifications of those who apply to do any kind of tree work. It is not absolutely essential that they come from institutions of collegiate grade although the various departments of forestry, horticulture and botany attempt to instruct their classes in the fundamentals of such work. A keen observer and student, even though he may have been deprived of a great deal of school training, may equip himself to properly care for trees. It is, in general, well to beware of those who claim to revive trees by injecting into the trunks any kind of chemical substance.

"The city of Alma has in Wright park an area already beautiful but which has also wonderful possibilities for future development because the trees are still young and thrifty. The first step in the improvement should be the removal of some of the weaker and less desirable species of trees.
Good sod is desirable but can not be obtained unless some sunlight is allowed to hit the soil. There are many minor details to be worked out in developing park areas which can best be accomplished by employing a trained landscape architect for a few days during the summer months. Further development of Wright park and the city tract bordering on Superior street and the river will not only afford recreation grounds for Alma's citizens but will be attractive features to prospective citizens.

It is not possible in brief space to give detailed popular discussion of all the phases of caring for trees and parks. Public control of street trees cannot be too strongly urged. Such a step would necessitate passing an ordinance putting all trees between the sidewalks and curb line under public control and the appointment of a new, or designation of a present city official to have the care of trees as his separate branch of the city's public work. Many Michigan cities have undertaken this with pronounced success and others are rapidly following.
The cities of Detroit, Lansing and Grand Rapids are foremost and close cutting of their methods must be convincing of the advantages of public control of street trees."

SOME SPEED

Monday afternoon a farmer residing near Ithaca accidentally broke one of the stations of the Gratiot County Gas Company along the highway near that city and caused the concern to lose several thousand feet of gas. The Alma office was notified of the damage. It took Manager Leitch and his little "Henry Ford" just eight minutes to make the scene of the disaster, about one-half mile this side of Ithaca.

RUN OVER BY AUTO

Norton Borton the six year old son of William Borton, proprietor of the Alma garage narrowly escaped injuries Monday morning. The lad attempted to cross the street in front of a swiftly moving car, when directly in front of its path the boy was knocked to the ground and the machine passed over his body, but luckily he lay between tracks and escaped with several light bruises.

A CITY OF MYSTERY

Ancient Petra, in Arabia, Now in Ruins and Deserted.

LIVED IN EARLY BIBLE TIMES.

Then It Was Famous and Wealthy and a Place Where History Was Made—Its Curious Temples, Tombs and Dwellings Carved Out of Solid Rock.

The strangest city in the world is Petra, cut out of solid rock in a lonesome mountain valley in the Arabian desert. Once a rich city, it is now an abandoned ruin. It is so old that its origin is lost to history, but it was well known in early Bible times when the Edomites inhabited it, and about a century after the beginning of the Christian era it was conquered by the Romans. But a few centuries later it was abandoned by civilization, and for 1,500 years it lay forgotten by the world until the traveler Burckhardt rediscovered it in 1812.

So inaccessible is its situation, although it once lay on a trade route, that not more than fifty travelers are known to have visited it since Burckhardt's time.

No romancer ever conceived such a place. All around are barren mountains, rocky, wild and trackless. Beyond the mountains stretches the desert. A savage gully deepens into a long, narrow gorge with perpendicular walls one of two hundred feet in height. Following this ravine for two miles, the adventurous traveler suddenly finds himself at a kind of gateway in the rocks, like the entrance to a Roman amphitheater.

Here he is confronted by a temple cut in the rock, with the most exquisite Carthaginian columns, and, entering the doorway, he finds himself in the heart of the hill, surrounded by subterranean architecture of the most elaborate beauty of form and workmanship. This is the so-called Treasury, or Treasury, supposed to have been built by the Roman emperor Hadrian, who visited Petra in the year 131 A. D. Although called a Treasury, it was a temple devoted to Isis. No description of this strange building has ever exceeded that given by Stephens, the first American traveler to see it.

"The whole temple, its columns, ornaments, porticoes and porches are cut out from and form a part of the solid rock, and this rock, at the foot of which the temple stands like a mere protuberance, towers several hundred feet above, its face cut smooth to the very summit and the top remaining wild and unshapen, as nature made it. Nel-ther the Colosseum at Rome, grand and interesting as it is, nor the ruins of the Acropolis at Athens nor the pyramids nor the mighty temples of the Nile are so often present to my memory."

But this is only an introduction to the marvels behind. The gorge opens out into a narrow valley some three miles in circumference, everywhere sunk deep beneath the inclosing mountains, and the walls of this valley are filled with the remains of other rock cut temples, tombs and dwelling places. In one place are the remains of an open air theater. Some of the structures cut in the face of the rock are several stories in height, while their architectural details excite the wondering admiration of the beholder.
Of course they gain immensely in the eyes of the surprised visitor by their situation and by the air of total abandonment which surrounds them. They are at various heights above the floor of the valley, and the uplifting of the eyes turned to study them adds to the impression of lonely majesty which they make upon them.

It is rare to meet any human being in the place. Sometimes a few Arabs are seen, but at night the voices of voivores, hyenas, owls and jackals may be heard, and occasionally one of these animals may be surprised lurking in the dark interior of an open tomb. Large venomous serpents are also sometimes met with.

It is not surprising that some visitors have applied to Petra, which has been supposed to be the Seat of the Bible, the curses uttered by the Hebrew prophets against the land of Idumea, such as these: "And thorns shall come up in her palaces, nettles and rambles in the fortresses thereof, and it shall be a habitation for dragons and a confession for owls; or, 'Oh, thou that dwellest in the clefts of the rocks, that holdest the height of the hill, though thou shouldst make the nest as high as the eagles I will bring thee down from thence, saith the Lord.'—Garrett P.

The House of Croy.

In France the noble family of Croy boasts of descent in direct line from Adam's third son, Seth. They say at the time of the deluge Noah took their family title deeds into the ark. At their chateau may be seen a picture of that event, wherein one of the drowning men waves a scroll above his head on which is inscribed, "Save the title deeds of the house of Croy."

No Highbrow.

Bacon—"The giraffe is said to be the only animal in nature that is entirely dumb, not being able to express itself by any sound whatever. Egbert—"It's just as well, for if it could speak it would talk over everybody's head." —Yonkers Statesman.

A Satisfactory Test.

"So you want to marry my daughter, eh?" said the old man. "Do you think you have the patience and forbearance to make her a kind and indulgent husband?"

"Surest thing you know," replied the applicant for the son-in-law job. "I can button a collar on a shirt that is half a size larger without getting angry, and—"

"Say no more," interrupted the old man. "She is yours. Take her, my son, and my blessing goes with her."—St.
Louis Post-Dispatch.

POULTRY PICKINGS.

In marketing eggs aim to have them clean and uniform in color and size.

Simple remedies for mild ailments are well enough, but when a fowl gets very sick it is best to kill and cremate it at once.

A solution of concentrated lye does the work of destroying disease germs in an old brooder, and it is also invaluable for cleaning poultry drinking fountains.

If you don't want your hens to get the habit of eating eggs give them plenty of work, fresh vegetables and a variety of grains.

No incubator will do its best where there is too much variation in the temperature.

HE THRUST GRIEF ASIDE.

Because He Was a Journalist, With a Duty to Perform.

Appropos of journalistic enthusiasm, Mr. Arnold Bennett furnishes a humorous illustration. He was twenty and a reporter for a small paper. An election had taken place in which his paper's candidate had been defeated and a heavier had won. His editor had given him instructions that if they lost he was to make fun of the brewer, and in any case to deliver his copy by 11 o'clock next morning. Mr. Bennett says:

"I attended the declaration of the poll, and as the elated brewer made his speech of coronation in front of the town hall I observed that his hat was stove in and asked. I fastened on that detail and went to bed in meditation upon the factious notes which I was to write early on the morrow. In the middle of the night I was awakened up.
My venerable grandfather, who lived at the other end of the town, had been sicken ill and was dying. As his eldest grandson, my presence at the final seance was indispensable. I went and talked in low tones with my elders.

"Nothing domestic could be permitted to interfere with my duty as a Journalist."

"I must write those factious comments while my grandfather is dying!" This thought filled my brain. It seemed to me to be fine, splendid. I was intensely proud of being laid under a compulsion so startlingly dramatic.
Could I manufacture jokes while my grandfather expired? Certainly. I was a journalist. And never since have I been so ardently a journalist as I was that night and morning. With a sense of the theatrical, I wrote my notes at dawn. They delicately exorciated the brewer.

"The curious thing is that my grandfather survived not only that, but several other fatal attacks."

WHAT IS STYLE?

It Is Difficult to Define Because It Is So Intangible.

What makes a woman stylish? Applied to dress, style is a curiously elusive quality, either to define or to acquire.

"A stylish garment!" we say of one made in the fashion of the day. But when we ask, "What is the style of the garment?" we are inquiring for a description that may be of this year's style, or last year's, or of the last century's. A dress may be "in style" so far as its material, cut and trimming go and yet not look stylish when worn, either because it is worn by the wrong person or in the wrong way.

"A stylish woman," we say of one dressed in a mode, and yet in the next breath we describe another woman as "good style," although she is not wearing the latest fabrics or newest cut and often is not herself beautiful.

Style is not a simple quality, but a compound one. "We say style," says an old writer, "of everything in which form or matter is conceived to be, in however slight degree, expressive of taste and sentiment." And it is taste and sentiment more than a specific mode that go to the making of style in dress—that intangible something so hard to define, so seldom acquired and so much desired because it is so widely admired.

The French word chic expresses, as Americans and English use it today, a good deal of what we have in mind when we say "stylish." It implies a certain knack in the selection and manner of wearing clothes. The meaning in French includes the idea of subtlety and finesse, and it is these qualities more than the elegant (striking) effect that are suggested by the best dressed women, so often lacking in those of expensively dressed Americans.—Good Health.

Early Story of Bermuda.

Discovered in 1505 by Juan de Bermudez, whose name was given to the delightful Bermuda Islands, they lay for nearly a century in obscurity, until Admiral Sir George Somers and a party of Virginia colonists were wrecked on the islands, remaining there several months, while they built two small cedar pinnaces. In these vessels the voyage to the coast was continued, the colonists arriving at Jamestown only to find the people there without food and on the verge of starvation. Somers volunteered to return to Bermuda to obtain a cargo of wild hogs, which were plentiful, but his mission ended in his death. In 1612 the Virginia company sent out the first party of colonists to Bermuda and hoisted the English flag over the islands, which now rank as Britain's oldest colony. The Virginia company sold its rights to the Bermuda company, which sent out other colonists from time to time and endeavored to build up a profitable community for its shareholders.

Keep in Harness Until You Drop.

A prominent Canadian financier in his sixty-fifth year went to England to said the doctor. "There's no reason why you shouldn't live to be a hundred—if only you don't stop working."

DEFENSE AGAINST ALL ENEMIES IS DEMANDED

BY AMERICAN PEOPLE.

JACKSON WOMAN HAD TERRI-BLE EXPERIENCE BUT IS NOW ALL RIGHT

"I wish that every poor sufferer would give Tanlac a fair trial," said Mrs. Caroline Rhyme, of Jackson, while in conversation with the Tanlac representative at the Weeks Drug store.

Mrs. Rhyme then went on to explain how she had been in a terrible condition from stomach trouble and nervous disorders.

"I used to suffer from headache and nervousness so badly that it almost set me wild. I had hardly any desire for food and just had to force myself to go to the table.
I lost so much strength that I could hardly walk. My nerves were simply frazzled. I could not sleep at night and always woke up feeling more tired than I had been before I went to bed.

"Since using Tanlac I have entirely recovered my health," said Mrs.
Rhyme, "and that is why I am so anxious to recommend it to others. I now feel like a new woman. My appetite is so ravenous that I can hardly get enough to eat. No matter what I eat I do not have the slightest trouble with my digestion. My nerves have staidied down and I sleep like a top every night. I feel better, look better, and am better since using the great medicine. I take pleasure in recommending it to everybody."

Low 20th Century Manure Spreader A Durable Machine

THE Low 20th Century spreader is durable because it is built almost entirely of steel.
The main frame is steel, braced with steel. Both front and rear trucks are steel. All driving parts are steel.
The controlling levers and even the seat are of steel.
The only wood entering into the construction of this machine is used in the sides of the box, the apron slats, the beater bars, and the tongue. In these places the kind of wood used is more durable than steel.

Besides being durable the Low 20th Century spreader is without exception the most efficient spreader on the market.
The features that make it durable and efficient will have to be seen to be thoroughly understood. The dealer has a sample machine set up, and can show you these features better than we can tell you in fifty advertisements. Go in and see the machine.

PERSONAL PROTECTION POLICY ENDORSED NOW BY QUARTER MILLION OF PEOPLE

More than a quarter of a million people—over two hundred and fifty thousand men and women—praise Tanlac today because Tanlac makes them better—makes them feel better, gives them more strength, more energy, more vim, better nerves, surer ambition, saner hope.

There are many sick people, some of them actually diseased, others simply "ailing," "not feeling well," "run down." And very often to be "run down" is the beginning of being diseased; because weakness brings illness. The weak cannot successfully resist the attacks of disease.

These sick people sometimes get used to being sick. They get so they believe that it is natural to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia, belching and bloating from gas, sourness and sore-ness of the stomach, constipation, biliousness, inactive liver, dizziness, kidney troubles, pains in the sides and back, palpitation of the heart, headaches, "ringing in the ears," weakness, nervousness, loss of appetite, sleeplessness, falling off in weight, foul breath, coated tongue and irritability. But it isn't natural and Tanlac, the new medicine, is proving that health is within the reach of all.

"As I said, I read this testimonial given by my friend and I knew that he would not endorse Tanlac unless he knew the medicine. Therefore when I took Tanlac I was pretty sure it would help me if anything would.
There is not much more to tell except that from the very start I improved under the Tanlac treatment and today I am again enjoying good health and feel fine all the time. I am glad to recommend Tanlac to anyone suffering from stomach and bowel troubles."
